The Jewett Brougham

Announcing the

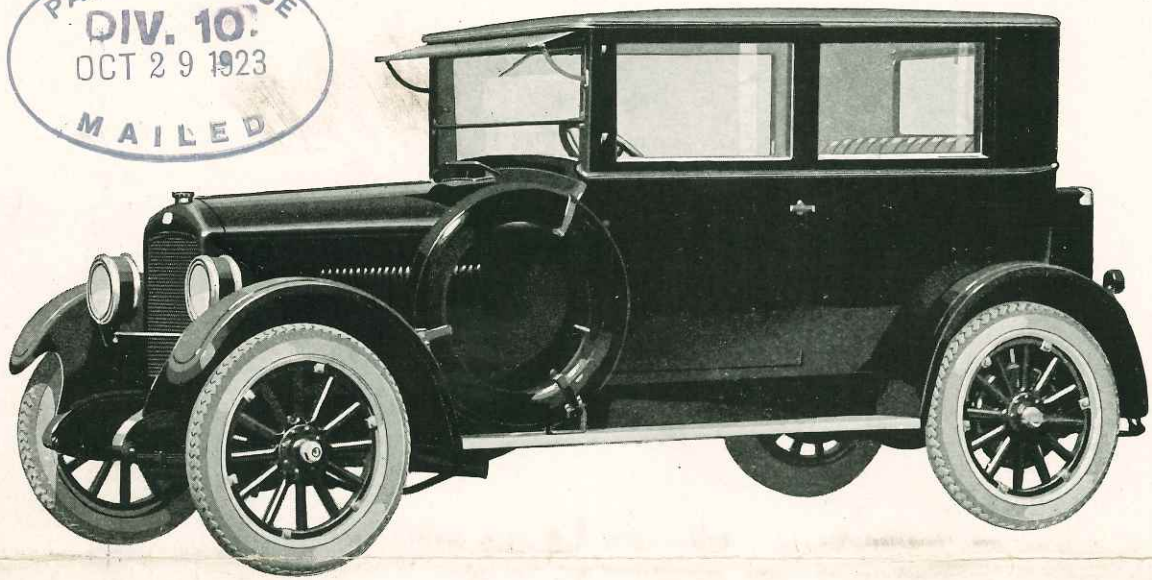
NEW BROUGHAM

with Permanent Baked Enamel Finish

by a New Process

JEWETT SIX

PATENT OFFICE
DIV. 10
OCT 2 9 1923
MAILED



A Closed Car Built for Thrifty Buyers

ALL the roominess of a full-fledged sedan — the appealing intimacy of a coupe — a lasting lustre finish that defies the weather —

This is what the new Jewett Brougham brings to you at very little more than the price of a good open car.

Built with the extreme sturdiness that has characterized the Jewett motor and chassis, the body is sheathed with steel panels that have a baked enamel finish — the rich, black gloss you have always sought. These panels are fastened separately to the extra-large, extra-strong wood body frame. Never before could this finish be placed on a wood frame body, but Paige methods now make it possible.

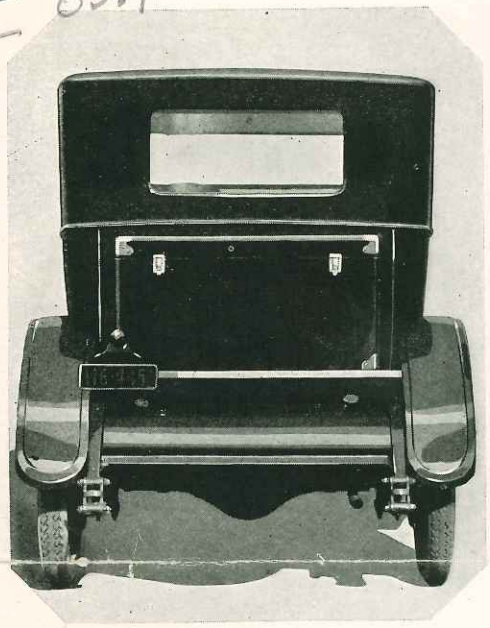
The Brougham offers ample room for five. Upholstery is rich velour over deep and comfortable springs. The commodious trunk on the rear is extra strong and well made.

The chassis has these famous Jewett features — a full 50 H. P. 6-cylinder motor with high pressure oiling system; Paige-Timken axles, front and rear; ball-bearing steering spindles; improved clutch and transmission that make driving easy for the frailest woman.

We welcome you to see and drive this car — you'll recognize its quality instantly. It will satisfy your most exacting requirements as to performance, construction and enduring beauty.

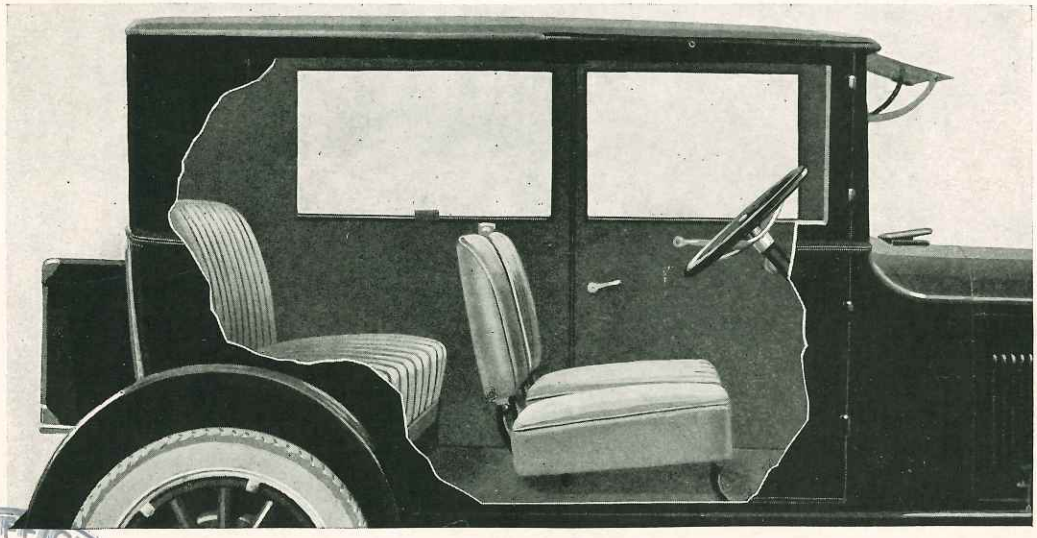
PAIGE-DETROIT MOTOR CAR COMPANY, DETROIT, U. S. A.

296
28
65.1
296/65.05



The sturdy, capacious trunk is indispensable to the salesman or touring party.

Both front seats fold forward, thus affording clear passage through either door.



Note the fore-and-aft length of the Brougham body which leaves abundant leg room for all passengers.

PATENT OFFICE
DIV. 10
OCT 29 1923
MAILED

BEAUTIFUL proportions and sound construction throughout are features of the Brougham that appeal to every careful buyer. Steel panels over a wood frame insure staunchness and absence of rumbling. And baked enamel finish means lasting good looks with minimum care.

Printed in U.S.A.
American Printing Co., Detroit